

Another Capital Player Has Been Selected to Direct Destinies of Gridiron Eleven

WASHINGTON MAN AMHERST COACH

Jack Field Is Wanted by New England College to Take Charge of Football Squad Next Fall—Started at Eastern High School.

John Field, of this city, who played halfback on the Yale football team for the past two years, is Amherst's choice for coach next fall.

After his graduation from Yale in June, Field expects to take up the study of law at Harvard, and, although he has received several offers to coach in different sections, has decided to go to Amherst in order to be as near as possible to Cambridge.

Field prepared for college at Eastern High School, where he was captain of both the football and baseball teams. On the gridiron he was halfback and was the unanimous choice of the critics for the all-star eleven in his final year. In baseball he was chosen for first base on the all-scholastic nine that was taken to Princeton for the annual game with the tiger freshmen.

He spent one year at George Washington, but failed to make the team. From the time he entered at New Haven he was a sensation, and starred during his first year on the freshman eleven. He was fullback on the varsity the following season, and last fall received the honor of being called the best defensive back at Yale. In both the Harvard and Princeton, it was the deadly tackling of Field that kept Yale's goal line intact.

Time and again he downed the runners after they had penetrated the line or turned the end, and at the psychological moment in the Harvard game, when Yale's fighting team, battered and being driven back, was on the verge of being scored upon it was a desperate tackle by Field that stopped Corbett so hard that he dropped the ball and ruined the Crimson's best chance of obtaining the expected victory.

At Amherst, Field will have excellent material, and, being thoroughly drilled in the Yale system, he should get good results despite the hard schedule that Amherst is always called upon to meet.

Will Take Charge of Big Football Team

JOHN FIELD,
Washingtonian Whose Excellent Work for Yale Has Gained Him a Place as Amherst Coach.

BOB THAYER'S SPORTING GOSSIP

"EVERY KNOCK IS A BOOST."

Washingtonians coaches.

Following closely upon the report that Logan Cunningham is to coach the Princeton freshmen and Branch Bocock is to be in charge at North Carolina, comes the announcement that Jack Field will direct football affairs at Amherst.

For years there has been a disposition in certain quarters to belittle the quality of football as played in the high schools of Washington, still here are three former scholastic players of this city who are assigned to teach the gridiron sport for leaders in their respective classes.

Cunningham, at Princeton, and Bocock, at V. P. I., last season each had experience as coaches, while Field is a newcomer in the business. If Field can coach as well as he played, however, Amherst will find that it has made no mistake in its selection.

Event for long distance runners.

For years the long distance runners of Baltimore completely outclassed the athletes of Washington, but of late there has been a change, and what ever advantage is now held is in favor of the men of this city.

On Washington's birthday the annual cross country run for the championship of the South Atlantic Association of the A. A. U. will be held, starting from Brightwood, and judging by the number of Washington clubs that have already signified their intentions of furnishing the majority of the entries.

The race promises to develop into practically an intercity affair, and if Washington does not have the greater number of point winners it will be a big disappointment here.

Wild Conroy's position.

Every chance Wild Conroy has of making a regular position on the Nationals seems to depend upon the condition of his legs.

In the spring Conroy is always good, but as the season progresses his legs weaken and he usually finishes as a substitute hitter. The player has always maintained that if he were played in the outfield the work would not be so trying, so it is likely that during the preliminary season McAlister will give Conroy every opportunity to play in the outer gardens.

Conroy is a good hitter, a fair fielder, one of the brainiest players in the business, and, were it not for the weakened legs, he would probably be one of the most valuable members of the Washington club.

Donlin is through.

Mike Donlin, who but a few years ago ranked with the best outfielders in the business, has declined to re-enter the game as a New York Giant.

Donlin maintains that he can make so much money in vaudeville that there is no reason why he should return to baseball. While this may sound well enough from a press agent's viewpoint, the truth is probably that Donlin realizes that he could not get back into shape, and, rather than take a chance and fail, he is reaping the coin on the stage as a retired star. At that, Donlin and his wife make up quite a clever vaudeville team.

Block signs contract.

The latest player to affix his signature to a Chicago White Sox contract is Jimmy Block, who formerly caught for the Nationals.

When Block was brought here from Galveston he looked like anything but a major league catcher, and he was soon driven into the minors. He developed speedily, however, and last year caught some really first class ball for the Sox.

Comiskey is depending upon him for regular backstop work next summer.

THREE MEN TIED FOR HIGH SCORE

Everett, Sheehan, and Neubeck Fighting It Out in Washington Duckpin.

With three men tied for high score of 136, Everett, Sheehan, and Neubeck, the Washington Duckpin League is having a close race in its second season at 1131 Seventh street northwest. Sheehan has high set with 350, and the M. David team has high set and game. Phillips and Ristion lead in strikes and spares.

Pedestrian Goes Abroad To Walk for Record

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 28.—Stewart White, who claims to have lowered the record of Edward Payson Weston nineteen hours between Portland and Chicago, shipped as a cattleman on the steamship Devonian today.

He will receive a return ticket and a shilling for his services on the way over, and expects to do some long walking stunts while in England.

Michiganders to Supply Cornell Eleven Dates

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 28.—"Hurricane" Yost and his band of Michiganders will probably supply Cornell in the Harvard football schedule. William F. Garcelon, representing Harvard, has held telephone conferences with Athletic Director Charles H. Smith, since the latter's visit East offering to schedule the Wolverines at the local stamping grounds on November 11, which date has been held for Cornell.

At the two New York Shows more pneumatic-tired cars were equipped with Goodyear than any other kind. At the Palace Show our lead over our nearest competitor was 57%. At the Garden Show our lead on non-skid tires was 300%.

Tire Bills Cut In Two

Rim-Cutting is made impossible in Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires. And the tires are made 10 per cent oversize. These two features together cut the average tire bills in two. Yet they now cost nothing extra.

The picture shows how Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires fit any standard rim for quick-detachable tires. Also demountable rims.

With the ordinary tire—the clincher tire—the removable rim flanges must be set to curve inward—to grasp hold of the hook in the tire.

The sharp hook of the flange then digs into the tire. Thus a punctured tire is often ruined by running a hundred feet.

The No-Rim-Cut tire, as shown in the picture, has no hooks on the base. It doesn't need to be hooked to the rim. Not even tire bolts are needed.

So the removable rim flanges are turned to hook outward. This brings the rounded side of the flange next the tire, instead of that thin-edged hook.

Half a million of these tires have been sold. We have run them deflated in a hundred tests—as far as 20 miles. In all this experience there has never been a single instance of rim-cutting.

This is how we avoid the hooks: Through the base of the tire we run 126 braided wires. These wires make the base unstretchable. Nothing can be done to stretch it.
